

World Guiding Bingo

1

Equipment needed: Counters/matches/or jelly beans
Pencils

Time: 20 minutes

Activity details:

Give each girl a blank grid and a copy of the answers between 3-4 girls.

Each girl is to write any one of the answers from the answer sheet in each square randomly. There are 35 questions and only 25 squares so not all answers will be used. Each girl should have a different looking Bingo grid.

The questions are then read in any order and if a girl thinks she has the answer on her board, she raises her hand. When the correct answer has been given, any girl who has that answer on her board needs to put a counter/match/jelly bean on that square.

The purpose is to get a line of 5 correct answers in a row either horizontally, vertically or diagonally.

This game can be played a number of times, mixing up the order of the questions or the girls can make new answer grids.

This bingo game can be used for a range of topics – you just need to think up the questions and answers – by getting each girl to make up her own Bingo grid it saves time.

WAGGGS Dominos

2

Equipment needed: Counter/match/or jelly bean
Pencils

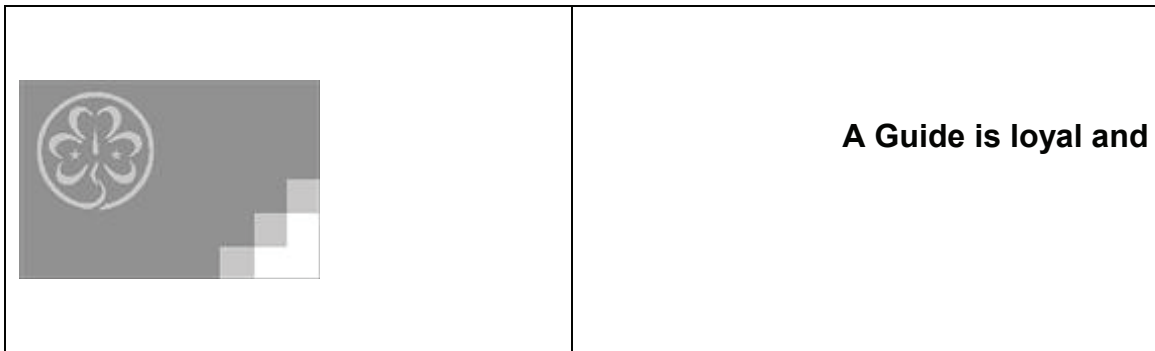

Time: 20 minutes

Activity details:

To assemble

Each page of the template makes 5 dominos, 30 dominos in all, the template has them in sequential order of question/answer. Stick copies of the domino pages onto cardboard, then cut out each domino.

E.g. the first domino consists of

You may like to add more questions/answers and/or laminate the dominos to make them last. You can make a set for each Patrol to play.

Play:

All dominos are turned face down, girls choose 4 each to start. Any girl may start by placing one of her dominos on the table. The next girl tries to add one of hers. If she can't match either end, she must pick up another domino until she can add one to the game.

Then it is the next girl's turn.

When all the spare dominos have been taken girls just "pass" if they can not add to the game.

It may be helpful for Leaders/Patrol Leaders to have a list of the correct answers just in case.

Thai Friendship Necklaces

3

Equipment needed: Per Guide - 115cm lengths of wool in 6 colours (gold, green, blue, mauve, red, pink)
One small bell

Time: 20 minutes

Activity details:

Tie the bell to the middle of one of the lengths of wool
Take your 6 lengths of wool together and tie 13 overhand knots in the wool with even distances apart.
Join the ends with a reef knot.

The legend:

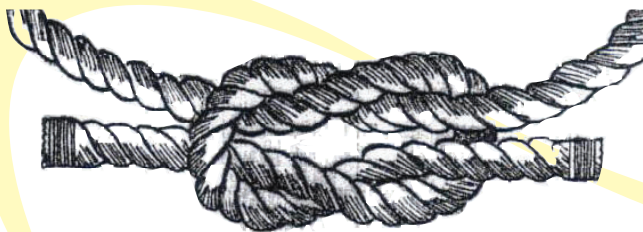

10 of the knots represent the Guide Law. One knot represents the promise. One knot represents the unity of Guiding. One knot represents friendship. The reef knot is used as it won't slip and allow the link of friendship around the world to break.

The colours:

Gold – sun that shines above the world
Blue – waters of the world that divide our land
Red – hope of continued friendship and peace
Green – nature that provides beauty worldwide
Mauve – arts of the world, all unique to their cultures
Pink – unit of all colours within the Guide sisterhood

The Bell: An old Thai custom says that the sound it makes frightens away evil spirits

Poi

5

Equipment needed: Newspaper or Tennis Balls
Colour paper
String/Cord
Scissors

Time: 40 minutes

To make you will require :

1. The cords should be about 800mm long, so you can also tie around the paper ball
2. You can if you wish plait different coloured wool together to make a nicer looking Poi cord.
3. Push the newspaper into a ball (or use tennis ball) and tie one end of the cord around the ball.
4. Cut the coloured paper into a square about 400mm x 400mm.
5. Place the ball in the middle of the paper and gather the material over the ball.
6. Cut another piece of cord to tie the opening in the material up.
7. You can also add a layer of plastic over the Bag Poi and tie as before. This will make them last longer when used outside.
8. Trim the gathered paper with the scissors.
9. Tie loops or knots in the ends of the cord to hold onto as handles.
10. Make another one and you have your first set of Poi.

The traditional poi was used in games and physical exercises to sharpen reflexes, increase flexibility and improve coordination.

Basic Poi Toa (said poy toe-a): Hand-to-Hand Passing

Initially have the players spinning the Poi Toa while standing still. Have them make big circles (with the ki or head of the Poi Toa) and then have them shorten their ropes to make small circle - and then letting out the rope to make big circles again.

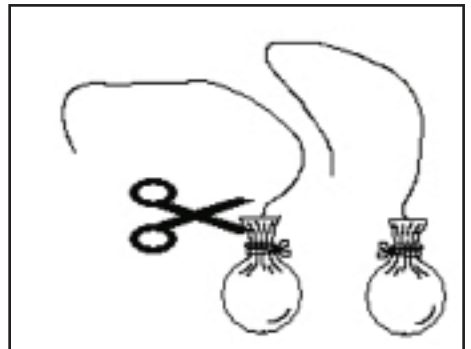

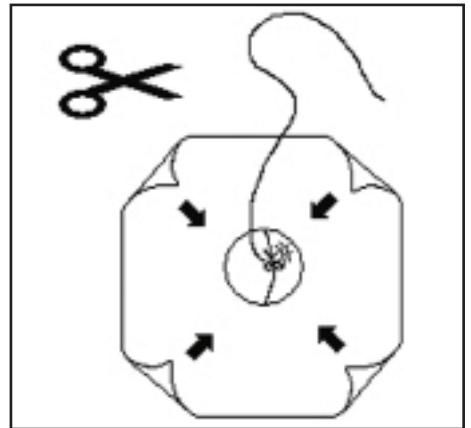

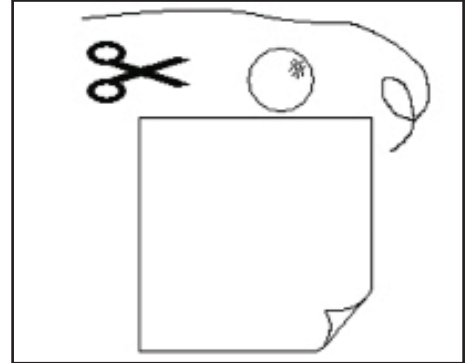

Then move the players on. Have them practice spinning and handing over the Poi Toa to each other without the Poi Toa stopping – they can do this in pairs. Body and hand positions are crucial when successfully passing and receiving a spinning Poi Toa.

Next, divide the players into two equal teams. Have them standing still in a straight line with a two metre gap down the middle. Give the front person in each line a Poi Toa.

On “Go!” they pass it to the next one in line, and so on, until the Poi Toa reaches the last player in the line who then runs to the front of the line, still spinning the Poi Toa, and sits down. The rest of the team sits down also.

The first team “down” (having passed correctly and having kept the Poi Toa spinning) wins.

Could also have the players keep going until everyone has had a turn at being in the front of their line. (This activity can also be adapted into a circle).

The Woozle Song

6

Equipment needed: Nil

Time: 5 minutes

Tune: The Ranger Song

Blessed be the woozles one and all,
Blessed be their sparkling eyes.
Rangers and woozles side by side
Look for them here and far and wide.
Woozles are with us, and they're here to stay.

Woozles are red and so are we,
Woozles need our love.
Giving of service they will be
Woozling in the community.
Always a smile, a smile to see us through.

Over the mountains they will climb,
Over the sea they'll sail.
Here's to the woozles flying high
Woozling forth in love with life.
Woozles are growing stronger every day.
